Pastor's Desk...

Most of us like music. Listening to, performing, singing along with our favorite songs. I'm almost always listening and singing along in the car and office. Music accompanies our lives and worship. It influences us in many ways. Maybe you remember a few weeks ago when I shared the sermon I'd started got derailed by a song playing on my Spotify "Release Radar" auto-playlist. I changed the whole thing for that coming Sunday and asked, like Jesus asked his disciples, "who do you say Jesus is?" Thinking about our different sources of information and influence- like what we read, listen to, what we see, and who we talk to- what do we each think about and believe about Jesus? According to the song that changed my sermon, Jesus was a drag queen (also the song's title), a feminist, a trans kid, and a radical, among other things. I don't think Melody Walker, writer, and singer of "Jesus Was a Drag Queen," believes the historical Jesus was a drag queen or trans (not that I can speak for her), but that she's being deliberately provocative to make a point about a vision of Jesus as radically inclusive, and as seen in each of us.

Sometimes I think about the stuff I ask you all in preaching, and this past month, I've been thinking about some of the music that has most recently influenced my thinking about Jesus, and the Divine in general. For the past year, I've listened to the album Bible Belt Baby by drag performer Flamy Grant more than anything else. The opening track, "What Did You Drag Me Into?" is a play on both the art of drag, and the feeling of "Lord, what did you drag me into?" that often accompanies the Spirit pushing (or dragging) us outside our comfort zones or otherwise disrupting our plans. The music video takes place in church with drag artists releasing the few attendees and their preacher from their drab confines. The second track, an anthem against shame, opens, "God is a storyteller/ A lover composing a letter/ And every word is hope and light and glory." In "Esther, Ruth and Rahab" she talks about growing up, being bored in church, and finding hope and courage in the stories of women, even as the women around her were silenced. And I quoted the chorus of the final track, “Good Day” on Trinity Sunday, connecting God’s multiplicity to our own as we have been made in God’s image, by God, and good in every way.

The Gospel of Matthew, where we’ve been focused this year, talks a lot about the kingdom of heaven. The HighWomen sing, “All my heroes are going to heaven/ All the junkies and the liars and the fools” in “Heaven is a Honky Tonk.” In other secular music, Brandi Carlile’s “Stranger at My Door,” a song that talks of exorcizing demons and selling souls, always calls to my mind Matthew 25:31-46. It ends, “But nothing scares me more than the stranger at my door/Who I fail to give shelter, time, and worth.”

I contemplate, as I sing along with, “But them wafers ain’t meat; they’re just made of wheat; no one ever got drunk off of blood. So pass that wine around, my friends, redemption will just have to wait” in “Jesus Ain’t Dead” by Gasoline Lollipops from their album, Resurrection. (I also wonder what it means that Jesus is “home asleep in bed and Elvis is cookin’ him eggs.”) Semler, featured in the Flamy’s cover of Amy Grant’s “It Takes a Little Time,” sings about being queer and Christian. In their song, “Jesus from Texas” they sing, “I grew up a preacher’s kid cleaning up after communion/ So I know that a church is not a way to live/ It’s a weekly reunion.” I wonder, what does it mean for the church to be perceived as a social club, and not a place of welcome, acceptance, affirmation...; that church is a place where faith is a commodity and not how we are transformed by God’s love? Semler sometimes sings with Trey Pearson on his track, “Hey Jesus” after coming out but being told by the church they’re wrong, “Hey Jesus can you hear me out/ I just wanna love like everyone else/ I was wonderin’ could you love me the same?” Do we believe Jesus loves us as we are, or are there conditions?

As our gospel readings the next few weeks take Jesus into Jerusalem for death, and then Advent prepares us for his birth keep considering the question, who do you say Jesus is? What does music- the stuff you enjoy, that we sing in worship, and even what you don’t like- say about Jesus and the Divine?

Peace,
Pr. Kate Drefke

What the Pastor is Reading

Most of my reading the past month has been a binge of Louise Penny’s Inspector Gamache series, but in between chapters I’ve also read:

A Man Called Ove (© 2012) by Fredrik Backman.

A very popular novel from ten years ago, Ove is a grumpy man, with exacting expectations of others. Through narrative flashbacks, life’s many disappointments and his character formation are revealed. Taking after his father, he believes that what is right is right, even to the point of breaking friendships over the cars each drive. Grieving and thinking he has nothing left to live for in this confusing modern world, his plans for death are repeatedly subverted by “incompetent” neighbors and faulty materials. He is also adopted by a cat who has seen a few things.

The Carrying: Poems (© 2018) by Ada Limón.

Lowell and I spent a lot of time in bookstores while traveling this summer. This book was highlighted on a shelf at the independent bookstore we went to in Seattle because Limón is the US Poet Laureate, her second term began this September. This collection’s poems cover race, in/fertility, a new national anthem, life and death, aging, and bodies. “On a Lamppost Long Ago”

language, with bees, disappears. “In the time it takes to say I love you, or move in with someone,/ or admit to the child you’re carrying, all the intricate words/ of a language become extinct.”

Murder in the Cathedral (© renewed 1963) by TS Eliot.

By coincidence, I had picked this up at a used store in Chattanooga so that when one of those Gamache novels kept referencing it, I had it handy on a shelf to read. Back in 1170, Thomas Becket, Archbishop of Canterbury, was murdered in the cathedral. Eliot’s play is written in poetry and prose, handling issues of faith, politics, and the common good. “The last temptation is the greatest treason:/ To do the right deed for the wrong reason.”

Fall Worship Experiments

We’re playing with our worship this fall! On the third Sunday of the month (17 Sept, 15 Oct, and 19 Nov) we’re going to play with some of the elements of worship. In particular, the sermon is going to be a time of reflection and discussion with one another, asking questions, making scripture more alive in our lives. We’ll try these things for a couple of months. If we like it, we’ll keep the experiment going a few more months before deciding on making it “permanent” (or not).

@ELCP our worship will intentionally include our youngest members of Christ’s body in the different pieces of worship, and the sermon will be a time of dialogue and reflection with them. Bring the kids in your life and all their questions!

@Faith our worship and coffee hour will happen at the same time. Drink your coffee (or tea or hot chocolate or whatever cold beverage) and munch on snacks while we explore the day’s scripture together.

Weekday Evening Worship

Poestenkill is experimenting this fall with offering a casual, come-as-you-are Thursday evening service on the first and third Thursday of the month at 6:45pm (or shortly following food pantry). This quiet worship meets in the undercroft, includes communion, and time for reflection and questions after the sermon (which is incomplete and very drafty).

Catechism! for the Already Confirmed

Year 2 is fast approaching, and we’ll be studying the Bible. Utilizing The Lutheran Study Bible, and the Greatest Story books from Augsburg (our ELCA publishing house), we’ll learn scripture, history, theology, and ways of reading the Bible.

This year we’re going to try meeting on Tuesday afternoons at 1pm, starting Oct. 3, at Poestenkill. Join us!

Coffee Hour Worship

Faith held its first Coffee Hour Worship on September 17th. I really enjoyed this new format for a variety of reasons. I felt it gave the congregation more opportunities to participate in the service in a relaxed setting and the ability to 'go off script' by inviting personal thoughts and experiences of congregation members at different points in the service. All this plus an abundance of coffee and snacks made for a very enjoyable experience! Join us for the next Coffee Hour Worship scheduled for the 3rd Sunday of October!

Committee Reports:

In Reach/Out Reach - Katie will sign up for a coffee hour

Missions: The collection for August mission of $250 has been sent to YWCA.

Mission giving: The council had a discussion on the monthly missions. It was suggested we have a minimum donation of $500 for the monthly designated mission. A motion our monthly mission minimum expenditure be $500 starting in September was presented by Roberta Hayward, seconded by Evelyn Jarosz, and carried. Realizing that monthly mission collections fall short of $500 most months the shortfall will come out of the general fund.

A check for $200 was received from Simple Paradox Union grant fund in memory of Ruth Goerold. Motion to put the check in the general fund earmarked for missions in October. Carried

Stewardship - Evelyn will get together with Pastor to work on a theme for the fall

Property – a new mower has been purchased for $3499. There have been offers to purchase the old mower for parts. A toilet in the women's bathroom is out of order and will be fixed this week.

Finance/Investment – August 9th a letter was sent to Synod close out our funds held by them.

Old Business:

Treasurer's replacement – Linda Hulihan is now the treasurer in training.

Motion to accept the audit report. Carried

The Bishop will visit October 15th for our family worship service. An email will be sent to him following the September service letting him know what we want him to do.

New Business:

Bill is working on a replacement for the Financial Secretary. Rich Anderson is filling in in the meantime.

In the coming month Katie will work on reviewing the mission giving list and have suggestions for the October meeting.

Fred Howard sent a request to the council to update the Newsletter mailing list. By consensus the council gives Fred permission to update the mailing list.

A discussion ensued regarding our constitution, last updated in 2009, the church rolls and mailing list. Roberta and Doug offered to begin work on the constitution to be addressed in the October meeting. Pastor Kate and Evelyn will address the church rolls.

Joys and Concerns:

Katie's husband and daughter are recovering from bicycle accidents.

Linda will be having knee surgery October 11th.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:30 with the Lord's Prayer.

Our next meeting is October 2nd at 7:00 pm on Zoom.

Acting Secretary
Evelyn Jarosz

October Mission of the Month

Our Mission for the month of October is in support of St. Paul's Center for Women and Children. St. Paul's Center, located in Rensselaer NY, provides emergency and transitional housing for homeless mothers and their children. To assist the residents in moving on to independent living, they receive support and services in counseling, parenting, homemaking, budgeting, literacy, pediatric care, mental health, substance abuse, domestic violence education, job training and placement and permanent housing. Your continued support is greatly appreciated.

August Mission Collection was $250 (for the Ebenezer Foundation)

Thank you, Katie Bonnier

Fellowship and Training Opportunities

On Oct 14th from 9:00am to 3:30pm Defensive Driving Course will be held at church. Cost is $30.00 which includes lunch. For reservations call John at 518-279-9552.

Creative Threads – North Wind Birds

A second North Wind Birds quilt was stitched with pastel colors by Evelyn Jarosz.

Our group met in August to tie their latest quilt creations. All will be donated to St. Paul's Center, as we continue our mission to brighten a life of someone struggling to succeed.

The quilt group mourns the loss of our two senior members, Polly Hayward, and Ruth Goerold. Their commitment, humor, and wisdom will be missed.

Evelyn Jarosz, Master Quilter

AMONG OUR PEOPLE

If you have a special Joy or Concern that you would like to have included in this section, please email your item to: farmerf169@aol.com, or by phone at 518 421 4576 and leave a voicemail if there is no answer.

We ask that the Holy Spirit guide us all as we discern and move forward. We pray especially for individual guidance as we commit to personal participation in our congregation's future.

Please remember Ruth Goerold's family in your prayers. We all are saddened by her passing, but she lived a productive long life and was supported by her family allowing her to live in the home that she loved until the end.

Prayers for Alan and Carol Fike as they deal with repeated hospitalizations and now require 24 hour care. Also, for Sara Martin and her sister who plan, manage, and share in their parents' care.

Continued prayers for Larry Lansing, suffering from chronic conditions. We ask for continued healing and a return to better health.

Prayers for Kathy Adamek's Brother Mike Lewis who is confronting a serious health issue.

Prayers of supplication for people suffering in war torn counties. Where there is starvation nourishment; where there is persecution, shelter, and clothing for refugees; and where there is open warfare, negotiations leading to peaceful settlement of the issues are leading to the terror of destructive violence.

Prayers for renewal of our Congregations as we work to move into a new journey of faith, service, and outreach in our communities.

Prayers of thanksgiving for all who are those who are/have made successful recovery from surgery including Ron Karpier, Katie Bonnier, and Ernie Phillips.

Finally, prayers for our country that we focus on the things that unite us as one nation under God, rather than differences that divide us.

Keep watch, dear Lord, with those who work, or watch, or weep this night, and give your angels charge over those who sleep. Tend the sick, Lord Christ; give rest to the weary, bless the dying, soothe the suffering, pity the afflicted, shield the joyous; and all for your love's sake. Amen.
